Olympic Forest Creates Music

Oly Loop Tour Creates a Musical Journey of Self Discovery

Shelton, WA September 10, 2011: Oly Loop Tour™ announces the launch of their new website, www.OlyLoopTour.com, about a musical journey of self discovery while living amongst the forests of the Olympic Peninsula in Washington. Oly Loop Tour was created to showcase music originating in the nature dominated setting of the Olympic Peninsula Loop.

Inspired by the Pacific Northwest forests, www.OlyLoopTour.com chronicles the journey of personal growth living amongst the forest and oceanic imagery of the surrounding Olympic Peninsula. The natural landscaped setting of Ocean Shores, Forks, Port Angeles, Olympic National Park and the surrounding Olympic Peninsula is both a help and a hindrance in striving to achieve personal growth. The journey challenges an individual's character to overcome obstacles such as ominous rain forests, rugged mountainous terrain, impeding lowland lakes, volatile rivers and isolated beaches.

Four initial musical pieces are showcased on www.OlyLoopTour.com. Olympic Destiny starts the listener's Olympic Peninsula journey. It takes them on an emotional rollercoaster of twists and turns towards the dawn of self discovery. Time Slipped continues the Oly Loop Tour journey and expresses mental and physical suffering from losing a loved one in the isolated Olympic Peninsula. Sunlight breaks through Forks' cloud dominated skies along the Oly Loop Tour when an intuitive leap of personal enlightenment brings self discovery to a new level. Dance of Life celebrates the forest wedding of two people whose separate Olympic Peninsula journeys happened to intersect through serendipity in Port Angeles, Washington.

With dawn breaking each morning, the music captures the optimism that a new day brings for self discovery. As twilight sets in the evenings, the music captures the mystery of the area and the melancholy tone of struggling to find one's true self. Find out more about Oly Loop Tour at www.OlyLoopTour.com.
